Gods of the Stones

Gods of the Stones Peter Riordan

A lively, personal perspective on a frequently tumultuous part of the world. In the 1930s, English travel writer H V Morton undertook a series of journeys to the great religious and historical sites of the Middle East. The three books that emerged from these travels cemented his reputation as one of the greats of his genre and are still in print today. New Zealand travel writer Peter Riordan set off in Morton's footsteps in 2009. His journey took him through Egypt, Jordan, Israel, Syria, Lebanon, Turkey, Cyprus and Greece. Much has changed, he discovers, but much endures fundamentally unchanged. With Morton's books as his guide, he traces the remnants of Christianity and discovers the religious, cultural and political pressures shaping the region today.
